Sector Exposure vs All Ords

Market Commentary

Dancing to the same beat in March, the All Ords continued trading in a tight range closing the month up 1.84%. Market sentiment remains positive with global vaccine rollouts gaining momentum, fresh signs of travel bubbles and the economic recovery remaining strong.

The rapid rise of the yield curve which dominated investor attention last month appears to have slowed for now, which saw a recovery in last month's heaviest hit sectors. Utilities +6.81% and REITs +6.48% were two of the best performers, while Technology failed to follow suit down -3.03%, Materials also struggled closing -5.03% lower.

The RBA re-confirmed low interest rates are likely to remain until at least 2024 which is positive for equity markets (see our Livewire piece "Liquidity and Necessity"). The Jobkeeper program also ceased, and although we don't see this as a big risk to the recovery we'll continue to monitor the situation.

Last month we alluded that the portfolio is being positioned for what we anticipate will be an ongoing rotation to Value and Cyclical stocks. Whilst we continue to expect these categories to out-perform, we further refined our thoughts at a seminar recently, highlighting that we are heading into an 'everything' rally. Needless to say we monitor this daily from a multitude of data points.

We are also happy to announce that we have been shortlisted for the 2021 Money Management - Fund Manager of the Year Awards which takes place later this year. This is great recognition of how hard the team has worked to deliver strong risk adjusted returns over a highly volatile period.

Fund Objective

To maximise risk adjusted returns to investors. The Fund is an All Opportunities benchmark unaware long only Australian Equity portfolio.
